Congratulations Greg and Andy!

Pomme Lake News

Pomme de Terre 1 brought 22 boats to the lake for a 2 day HH tournament.

Saturday's weather started cloudy and gray in the low 50s but ended with blue skies and white clouds and in the high 80s by weigh-in. Sunday was partly sunny in the morning with a warm sun by mid day (high 80s) with winds blowing harder as the day progressed.

Water temps were in the mid to high 80s and had a slight to heavy stain depending on location. Water level was 8+ ft. over normal pool and made it difficult to fish the banks.

Overall, there were a lot of fish weighed but you had to work for them. Almost every boat weighed fish and quite a few were bigger than an average Pomme fish. On Saturday, the Big Bass of the Year was weighed in at 6.00 lbs even!

1988 - 2015 Celebrating 27 YEARS

10 minutes passed without a bite on my brush hog so I decided to change soft plastics. I threw it out one last time and let it sink while I chicken-winged my rod and searched through my soft plastic binder for something different. With my head down, I felt my rod pull to the back of the boat. Initially, I thought Jeremy had hooked my line with his crankbait, but I looked up and saw his lure was out of the water. I dropped my tackle bag, reeled down and set the hook. I knew it was a good fish immediately. It stayed down like a catfish, but I could feel some violent head shakes, so I thought it was just a really good bass. I gently started easing him up toward the boat when after a minute or two Jeremy spotted him and yelled "Big Muskie!" My heart rose and sank in the same second as I have always wanted to catch one, but I had just realized it wasn't the state record bass I was hoping for. He surfaced and thrashed the water violently. Jeremy said "That was cool, but don't let him do that again!" I loosened my drag considerably after seeing his size and started to steer him around back and forth from both sides of the boat while Jeremy argued with me that the net was too small. I told him to grab some gloves I had in the boat because he just might have to grab him behind the gills. Jeremy put on the gloves and grabbed the net as I continued to keep pressure on the fish. He started to come up to the surface again and Jeremy scooped his head into the net and threw him onto the deck of the boat in one motion like shoveling snow. We didn't have anything to measure him with, but believe he was a little over 40 inches. After a few photos, I knelt down to place him in the water and he thrashed out of my hands. He tore a good chunk out of my glove at the thumb and drew a little blood. After a quick trip to my first aid kit it was back to bass fishing! Submitted by Chris Watkins
